

IAFIG-RMS: new UK-initiative, an example to follow?

By Dominic Waithe

IAFIG-RMS

Image Analysis Focused Interest Group of the Royal Microscopical Society

“The NEUBIAS network has a key focus on developing the interests of bioimage analysts....The remit of the IAFIG-RMS will include the interests of the bioimage analysts in the UK as well as all the other types of scientist who in some way are involved in microscopy image analysis.”

Mailing list and Website

(IAFIG-RMS@jiscmail.ac.uk):

110 subscribers from across the UK. <http://iafig-rms.org/>

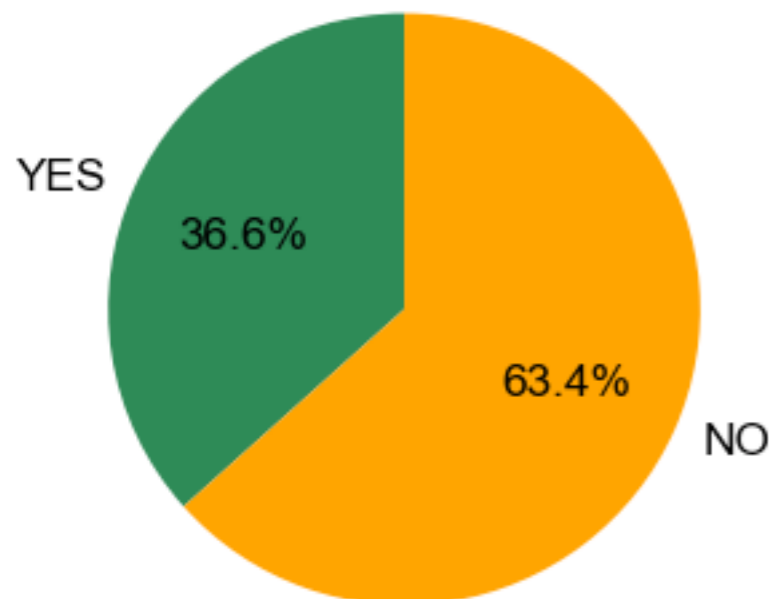

Meetings

So far 2x video calls, 2x face-to-face meetings.

MMC2016 and MMC2018 session

Questionnaires

Do you feel as though there are sufficient options for career progression in your chosen field of academia?

from: https://dwaithe.github.io/blog_20161127.html#

Support for Bioimage analysts

With Gabriella Rustici and RMS developing Train-the-Trainer to help develop the next generation of trainers for nationwide courses

Training course for Bioimage analysis

Hope to develop training for researchers to become accomplished in bioimage analysis. Will be organising hackathon with T-t-T for content.

New Questionnaire

IAFIG-RMS: BioImage analysis funding sources

Contributors

Laura Murphy, Graeme Ball, Martin Jones, Bertrand Vernay, Peter Bankhead, David Gaboriau, Stephen Cross, Jeremy Pike, Gabriella Rustici, David Barry, Leila Muresan, Erick Martins Ratamero + others.